

CITY INFORMATION

With 169.000 inhabitants, 10.000 or more being students, the city of Bielsko-Biala has an ICT sector that has grown substantially over the last years, with an emerging start-up scene related to high tech industry. It's also a city with strong automotive and electro-technology industries, and has R+D centres of SMEs.

> The city is home to the University of Bielsko-Biala.

Local Industry 4.0 ecosystems' challenges

- Invest in digitalization and robotics
- Attract young talents to STEM field
- Find qualified staff
- University and companies need to come closer
- Improve the development of competences of the employees
- Close the gap between manufacturing industry and local service sector
- Raise awareness about benefits of digitalization
- Need facilitation & cooperation scheme for multistakeholder initiatives

Industry 4.0 policy focus and actions

- Katowice Special Economic Zone: established to support and accelerate restructuring progress and create jobs
- Tech park and Beskid tech Incubator: create favourable conditions for the development of SMEs, special mention on innovative industries. Transfer of knowledge from academic centres to entreprises. Companies like Hutchinson Poland
- FabLab Bielsko-Biala (ARRSA)
- Digital skills workshops: 4all, 4Education, 4Labor Force (based on target)
- Showroom: robotic arms
- EU Industry Week
- BBDays4.IT
- iLaBB 43300: local innovation centre

